EDITORIAL

"Education is the passport to the future for tomorrow belongs to those who prepare for it today."

-Malcolm X

Forging ahead in our journey of learning, we aspire to put our fears and apprehensions of the turbulent times behind us. The challenging times during the pandemic have taught us to cherish every moment, keep a positive mindset and a cheerful demeanour. It has made us resilient, and we have emerged stronger and wiser. It is time to rekindle the hope and faith and resume our sojourn with the desire to achieve and excel. It's time to bring back the fun and excitement that were a constant part of school life. The pleasing secure environment of the school campus, the personal connect with the teachers, the never-ending friendly chats would no longer be missed. As we gear up for the new academic year, we are brimming with enthusiasm and eagerly await the normalcy of a buzzing school campus. The use of ICT in education has given us a new perspective which we educators intend to further integrate into our teaching to facilitate the teaching learning process making it more enriching, easier, and interesting.

We take this opportunity to welcome our students back to the school and progress as a team.

I am a Television. People use me to watch anything. I am an indispensable part of the human world today. I will be telling you my story. So, let's begin. I was first formed in Germany in 1927. I am square in shape and I am black in colour. People use me to watch news, cartoons, movies etc. And let me tell you one thing, if I hadn't been invented, how will you watch your favourite cartoons??

One of my most important utilities is that I update you with what is going on in your surroundings, by the news that I share with you time to time. Therefore, I feel that I am very useful to the humans but at the same time I have noticed that they have become more dependent on the technologies that my other brothers and sisters like smartphone and internet provide them.
